The Beacon Light Fund

An emergency fund which offers small financial help to individuals living with AIDS or disabling HIV disease.

Any person living within New Jersey, the five boroughs of New York City or parts of Eastern Pennsylvania and has a monthly income of $1200 or less may qualify for emergency assistance.

An application is made either by the afflicted person, a social or hospital worker or a person with power of attorney. Once eligibility is established, every effort will be made to provide financial assistance as quickly as possible. All inquiries and grants are kept in the strictest confidence.

People... Who HELP... People

The BEACON LIGHT FUND assists men, women and children of all ethnic groups and sexual orientation. Monies raised by various fund raising efforts are used to pay service providers directly for:

* Rent
* Utility and phone bills
* Special medical equipment
* Special medical supplies
* Home care services
* Emergency funeral services

Current estimates indicate that approximately one-third of individuals diagnosed with AIDS or disabling HIV disease exhaust their financial resources quickly and live at a subsistent level. Typically these people rely on county, state and federal assistance for support. These are the individuals that the BEACON LIGHT FUND assists.
